WELCOME MESSAGE

It is my great pleasure to host the 20th IAGG World Congress of Gerontology and Geriatrics in Seoul, Korea from June 23 to June 27, 2013. On behalf of the Organizing Committee, I am very happy and honored to welcome all the participants to the Seoul Congress.

Many people like to refer to this event as the Seoul Gerontology Olympiad because it has been held every four years on the five Continents with the view of providing an opportunity for researchers, educators, practitioners and students in the area of gerontology and geriatrics to release the results of the research they have worked on with hard effort for the last four years. Just as the best players from across the world compete with each other in the Olympic Games under the watchful eye of the people of all nations, a great number of professionals and specialists of gerontology and geriatrics will produce and supply precious knowledge and wisdom regarding the matter of ageing to the world through this academic festival.

The theme of the Seoul Congress is "Digital Ageing: A New Horizon for Health Care and Active Ageing". We anticipate a total of 5,000 researchers, educators, practitioners and policy makers in the field of gerontology and geriatrics from more than 90 countries all over the world will participate in the Congress and release some 4,000 papers covering almost all the disciplines and topics involving older persons and ageing such as how we can age well, how we can manage age-related diseases and how we see the global population ageing.

I would like to convey my deep thanks to all the Executive Committee Members of IAGG and Program Planning Committee Members of the World Congress for their valuable support and efforts in preparation for a successful Congress. Also, my sincere gratitude to all the sponsors for their generous support of the Seoul Congress can never be expressed enough.

I wish you all a fruitful meeting and hope that you will benefit from the Seoul Congress and that your visit to the dynamic city of Seoul will last as a pleasant memory.

WELCOME MESSAGE

The IAGG is a very unique scientific society. It is an umbrella organization of 72 national societies in 5 regions worldwide, reporting a total membership of 45,000 professionals to date. Our organization aims to promote the highest levels of achievement in gerontological research and training. Since its beginning in 1950, the IAGG organizes a world congress every 4 years to enhance and support all actions dedicated to gerontology and geriatrics around the world.

Facing the challenges of global aging and the increasing need for digitalization, IAGG's 20th World Congress of Gerontology and Geriatrics (IAGG2013) focuses on "Digital Ageing: A New Horizon for Health Care and Active Ageing". Access to information and new knowledge can improve health and quality of life of older people, decrease generation gaps, and facilitate worldwide communication in the globalized social environment. This is a unique opportunity for researchers in biology and medicine, and in social and behavioral sciences from all over the world, to present, study and discuss cross-cultural, cross-generational, and interdisciplinary issues of aging referring to the digitalization of the aged along with other important problem-solving approaches.

Despite our concern over the recent political situation on the Korean peninsula, this 2013 congress is full of promise. The Organizing Committee reports that by the end of April 2013, 3,778 participants (including 2,786 from overseas) have registered and that 3,674 papers were submitted. Today, I heartfully welcome you to Seoul and hope that each of you will enjoy this unique academic and scientific conference. May you leave Korea with information on the most recent findings to further support innovation, initiatives and actions for the benefit of the older population.

I would like to take this opportunity to warmly thank Prof. Heung Bong CHA, Chairperson of the IAGG2013 Organizing Committee and IAGG President-Elect, as well as the Federation of Korean Gerontological Society (FKGS), for the smooth organization and tremendous work achieved in the past years to make this a unique and successful event, that will become a major milestone for a flourishing Asian region and a focus point for the international community, all fully dedicated to our senior citizens.

WELCOME MESSAGE

On behalf of all our members of the Federation of Korean Gerontological Societies (FKGS), I wish to extend a warm-hearted welcome to all the participants of the 20th IAGG World Congress of Gerontology and Geriatrics. It is with great privilege and honour to host this congress in Korea and we are especially delighted to greet our guests at Korea's most prestigious world-class convention center.

We were extremely proud to be selected eight years ago to hold the IAGG 2013 Seoul congress. Since then we have worked hard on the preparations to ensure that the congress will be a smashing success. In particular, our hope is that the congress leads to remarkable improvements to gerontology and geriatrics facing population ageing globally.

We have organized an intellectually stimulating and exciting program to reflect the recent research trends and needs for solutions for the ageing society. Everyone will have a chance to share their latest work and projects with the utmost efficiency and highest quality. We hope it will be a great opportunity for participants to create a new global network with other colleagues from all over the world.

Visitors will find beautiful landscapes and fascinating historical relics in every corner of the country and will be able to get acquainted with the local customs and mouth-watering delicacies that form our treasured heritage. And then there is the unstoppable energy of modern Korea, a power rooted in ancient history that has catapulted the once impoverished country into the exclusive club of wealthy nations within less than 50 years.

With tremendous support from the Korean Government, we are filled with great excitement and anticipation for what is sure to be an unforgettable and valuable experience in Seoul. We hope you have a great time in the company and friendship of all our participants.

As of the end of 2012, Seoul had a population of some 10,442,426 inhabitants with a total of 4,177,970 households. This represented roughly a quarter of the population of the Republic of Korea, despite the city accounting for less than 1 percent of the country's area.

At the start of the Joseon Era, when the city first became the capital of the country, the population within the city walls was no more than 100,000, with a population density of 6,200 people per square kilometer. With Korea's dramatic industrialization and economic development, Seoul grew even faster. In 1970, the population was 5.32 million. In 1976, it was 7.25 million. In 1983, it was 9.2 million, and by the Seoul Olympics of 1988, it had jumped to 10,286,503 people. Seoul had finally joined the world's mega cities of 10 million or more.
