All day Photo exhibition: “Tanakra, the Mobility of People in Niger”

Photos by Francesco Bellina, supported by Giacomo Zandonini

For decades, hundreds of women have been working in Agadez’ huge migration business, lodging and feeding millions of migrants in transit. After an EU-sponsored migration crackdown, launched in 2016, their lives changed completely. From a relative wealth, they were plunged back into poverty. As a reaction, dozens of them created mutual support groups, to share their suffering and start small-scale economic activities. The EU is pouring funds in this desertic region, the size of France, to reduce the impact of anti-migration measures. But people are frustrated. A good opportunity for drug and weapons trafficking networks, that have links to jihadist groups active in Libya and Nigeria. Still, community links and traditional values are strong. Tanakra means “rise up” in Tamasheq. It’s the name of one of the women’s mutual help groups.

All day Photo exhibition “World Passport Museum”

The World Passport Museum is a non-profit startup which will showcase historical identity documents such as passports, visas, travel or other documents from 1600’s to 1900’s dating back to centuries. The museum is planned for opening in 2021 in London and Zurich. These photos display some of the exhibits.
