TISSA 2025

Welcome to Porto, Portugal

About

The international Social Work & Society Academy (TiSSA) is an independent cooperation between European universities, institutes and organisations. It was built up in 2002 as result of an European TEMPUS- TACIS-Project by the initiative of Prof. dr. Hans-Uwe Otto (Bielefeld University, Germany), dr. Olga Borodkina (St. Petersburg State University, Russia), Prof. dr. Walter Lorenz (Free University of Bolzano, Italy) and Prof. dr. John Harris (University of Warwick, Great Britain) to enhance and promote the international scientific and professional discourse about social work and its relation to society, especially against the background of fundamental transformations of 'the social' in the context of globalization. TiSSA provides a forum for involving professionals and academics in innovative discussion on theory and practice at the cutting edge of the social professions. Its overall aim is to identify how the needs of a wide range of societies experiencing transition can be met through the generation of new knowledge, concepts and models. The organisers of TiSSA assume, that socioeconomical developments indicate categorically that social work has to deal with its relation to the respective societies in a critical way, in order to build out a clear professional profile for the future, for a renewal of perspectives and to improve its agency. Any site of economic, political and social transition poses a challenge to social professions to reflect on new approaches to social work. In doing so, TiSSA focuses on promoting a comparative approach to the analysis of social work and society, enhancing the development of knowledge, skills and experience, shaping organisational changes and new governance processes, analysing quality criteria and reflecting on best practice and encouraging the international dissemination and exchange of information on significant developments.

Conference theme

Re-imagining Social Work and Social Justice: The Nexus of Theory, Practice, and Dissent

In the Global Definition, social work is defined as both a practice and an academic discipline. However, a de-intellectualisation of social work is apparent. This is embodied in a focus in research and practice on the development of skills on the one hand, and on the other hand evidence-based tools, rather than critical analysis. As such, the theory-practice nexus becomes problematic: either theory is seen as 'hindering' real social work, or theory merely has to be 'implemented' by social workers. This is a reduction of both research and practice to a hegemonic instead of a dissenting activity. Both intuitive knowledge and evidence-based models tend to be conservative, focused on the status quo instead of social justice.

In this conference, we want to reimagine the theory-practice nexus. The central question is: how can both research and practice be intellectual dissenting activities, countering hegemonic thinking and contributing to social justice?

Host city

Porto, located in northern Portugal, is the country's second-largest city and a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Known for its historic charm, Porto combines medieval architecture, scenic river views, and a vibrant modern culture. The city is famous for its iconic Dom Luís I Bridge, the picturesque Ribeira District, and its production of Port wine, which originates from the nearby Douro Valley. With cobbled streets, historic landmarks, and a lively arts scene, Porto blends the old-world ambiance with a contemporary flair.

The Lusófona University – Porto Campus (UL-CUP) is a prominent private university in Porto, Portugal. Part of the Lusófona Group, the largest private education network in Portuguese-speaking countries, UL-CUP offers a diverse range of undergraduate, postgraduate, and professional programs. Situated in the heart of Porto, near São Bento Station, the campus features modern facilities that support academic excellence, including lecture halls and collaborative spaces. Its location makes it highly accessible and an ideal conference venue, fostering meaningful connections between academia, culture, and the city's rich history.

The Bachelor's Degree in Social Work at Universidade Lusófona – Porto University Centre offers a comprehensive academic and practical foundation for those committed to promoting social justice and human rights. This six-semester programme integrates theoretical knowledge in social sciences with hands-on training through internships and research activities. It aims to develop critical thinking, ethical responsibility, and intervention skills across various social contexts. Graduates are equipped to work in public, private, and non-profit sectors, addressing contemporary social challenges with professionalism and empathy.

How to get to the Conference

We meet at Lusófona University – Porto Campus. The campus and main conference venue is located near São Bento Station:

R. de Alexandre Herculano 123 4000-054 Porto

Address for Monday morning:

Auditorium Associação Católica do Porto
R. de Passos Manuel 54
